CRACKS IN LAS VEGAS LABOUR MARKET

Why a 'soft landing' by US Fed is a good bet

THE CRACKS IN the labour THE CRACKS IN the labour market in Las Vegas and across Nevada have typically appeared early and widened fast when the US economy soured, making the consumer-driven city and state a bellwether of sorts for the rest of the country.

By that measure, as the US Federal Reserve heads towards a momentous shift to interest trate cittle this work business.

nomentous shift to interest rate cuts this week, business owners, labour leaders, and economists in Newada see few obvious signs of trouble. Indeed, in a state critical to the outcome of a US presidential election in November that maywell turn on pocketbook issues, they see plenty of evidence of an economy moving beyond high inflation without an employment-crushing recession: The Fed's longed-for soft landing? At glance, Newdads 5.466 unemployment rate, the highest among the 50 states and more than a percentage point above thenational rate, might cellisuch confidence into question. But that Sroughly where jobicssness has been for nearly 5 years in this state with little indication of breaking lighter as it offen has been for nearly as it of the has been for nearly as a for the has been for nearly as a for the has been for nearly as a for the has

Whether it's the steady arrival of guests eager to drop some discretionary income at the state's more than 200 casinos or a recent surge of construction hiring, "the conomy is doing well, visitation is up, profits are up, and growth is up? said Ted Papageorge, the secretary-treasurer of the intential Culinary Workers Union, which represents 60,000 workers in Las Vegas and Reno casinos, hotels and restaurants. "We've been able to negotiate the best contracts we've everyotten'overthe last 2 years, he said, including a recent surge of construction

The Fed's two-day meeting this week will mark a turning point in US monetary policy, as it begins cutting borrowing costs after the last of a run of rapid rate hikes that raised its benchmark overnight interest rate to the 5.25%-5.50% range, admarter-of-a century high.

a quarter-of-a-century high.

Analysts expect the US central bank will begin easing its cycle on Wednesday with a quarugh markets are pricing in a good chance it could be a halfpercentage-point cut to prevent further labour market softening.

further labour market softening.

Updated economic projections that will be released alongside the Fed's policy statement will show how much further policymakers anticipate reducing rates this year and in 2025 as they try to steer from restrictive financial conditions and towards more neutral ones. The work of the projections will in turn influence what consumers and consumers projections will in turn influ-encewhat consumers and com-panies pay to borrow money for buying ahome or auto, investing in a business or making credit card purchases. With inflation now running just about half a percentage point above the Fed's 2% target, the pace and extent of the rate cuts will hinge heavily on how officials assess the risks to a job market that has defied predic-tions for a major crack-up from market that has defied predictions for aniso reack-up from tight. Fed policy and the economic slumpespected to follow. The dynamics in Nevada show why the labour market has been so difficult for the Fed to read, and why even a rising national unemployment rate, last at 4.2% versus half-century lows of 3.4% last year, is not necessarily seen as a sign of underlying weathess. underlying weakness.

MA Chiadmoram Stadium on Mondayaffenou, the buzzand confidence in their ranks was hard to miss. A fortnight ago, with the country still recovering from months-long student protests that led to the incumbent government collapsing and the prime minister leaving the country, Bangladesh arguably had their biggest moment in Test history. After beating Pakistan despite conceding 448 in the first immings in the first Test, they recovered from 26/6 in the second to salt beseries 2-0. Now, as they set foot in India for only their second full-field ged series since becoming a Test nation in 2000, they will face conditions closer to the ones they find back forme. The two venues — Chennai and Kanpur — have historically addes sprimes, with the pitches offers. Monday afternoon, the buzz and last longer and it takes time to get soft. But visiting spinners, especially on traditional Indian decks which take time to undergo wear and tear, have historically strugged to bow livit the SG variety with Shane Warne and M Muralidharan too being no exceptions. And Bangladesh, whose biggest strength is their army of spinners — Shakib. whose biggest strength is their army of spinners — Shakib, Mehidy Hasan Miraz, Taijul laam and Nayeem Hasan — Will have their task cut out in Chennai, where a red-soil strip has been rolled out for the first Test. "Back home they play on blacksoil pitches, where the ball usually keeps low and takes slow turn. But on red soil surfaces, the characteristics are total widifferturn. But on red soil surfaces, the characteristics are totally different? Sriram says. "Here (Chennal), apart from the turn, one has to factor in the bounce as well. If the conditions assist spinners, it will turn and bounce more. So as a spinner, your seam positioning and release have to change. Even the trajectory - it's usually low back home so that deliveries skid on – have to be worked on."

With black soil pitches usually beingon the slower side and the bounce lower, Bangladesh spin-ners have relished such condi-tions. When India last toured Bangladesh towards the end of 2022, the hosts came close to springing a surprise before Streyas Iyer and Ravichandran Ashwin bialed them out in a tricky chase at Mirpur. That India have preferred to go with a red-soil surface is a clear sign that they are showing Bangladesh spinners respect. Their four spinners have 647 Test wickets between them, which easily make them the strongest unit to visit Indian shoresin recent times. Spinners will definitely like the SG ball, but if you are not used to the angle of the seam and the release, you will struggle. Sys Sfriam, who wished the Bangladesh is the great of the seam and the release, you will struggle. Sys Sfriam, who wished the Bangladesh will struggle to the spinners against Pakistan, it remains to be seen whether they gowith an additional spinner in India.". If you sak me, Nayeem could be an interesting prospect," says Striam.

Thursday

Tough for batsmen too

Tough for batsmen too Jaffer believes Bangladesh bat-ting unit will have to cope with the SG ball, which will keep not just India's spinners but also their pacers in play. "They are a competitive side in sub-conti-nental conditions and their con-fidence will naturally be high..But India will be a differ-ent cup of tea," Jaffer warns.
